

Laurence Dubensky, MD

As a board-certified emergency physician, Dr. Dubensky has practiced medicine in New York, where he completed his training at Northwell Health, as well as in Miami, Florida since 2010. He is an assistant professor of emergency medicine and critical care at the FIU School of Medicine and Nova South Eastern osteopathic and allopathic schools. He helped found and serves as the Director of Education and Assistant Program Director for an emergency medicine residency program in South Florida.