

Timothy M. Loftus, MD

Clinical Instructor of Emergency Medicine
Fellow, Clinical Operations and Administration
Department of Emergency Medicine
University of Cincinnati
Associate Medical Director, Center for Emergency Care
University of Cincinnati Medical Center

Timothy M. Loftus, MD is a Clinical Instructor and second year Fellow in Clinical Operations and Administration for the Department of Emergency Medicine at the University of Cincinnati. He serves as the Associate Medical Director for the Center for Emergency Care at University of Cincinnati Medical Center and the Sepsis Physician Lead for the UC Health Sepsis Performance Improvement Committee. He completed medical school at Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine, emergency medicine residency at University of Cincinnati, and is pursuing his Masters in Business Administration with a focus on health care administration from the Lindner College of Business at the University of Cincinnati. Professional interests include clinical operations, quality improvement, patient safety, sepsis care, and innovative care delivery models in the ED. He lives in Cincinnati, OH with his wife and two children. @TM_Loftus